Monday Nite Footballers Predictions

By Jim "Grand Dad" Nunnelly
Predicting Since 1970

Oakland Raiders vs. Kansas City Chiefs

8 p.m. KMBC-TV 9

Game Prediction (Wins In Parenthesis)

Charles Allen(6)
Chiefs by 14
Home or away; doesn't make difference

Paul Booker (5)
Chiefs by 7
Must play error free football

Carl Clark (6)
Chiefs by 10
Faye Kidd will be crying in California

Bubba Cleaver (6)
Chiefs by17
Raiders have " old "Rice"

Ike Gardner (3)
Chiefs by 7
Chiefs have to fall; hopefully not to Raiders

Lloyd Greenfield (6)
Chiefs by 6
Christmas in October

Ollie Hubbard (6)
Chiefs by 6
No. 7 butt kicking

Jim Nunnelly (6)
Chiefs by 1
Chiefs special team is special

Ed West (5)
Chiefs by 14
I'm a Raider-hater

Robert Allen
Chiefs by 7
Dante Hall!

Watson Stewart (guest) Chiefs by 14 -- Chiefs spray Raiders with Raid

Chatter, Conversation And Commentary

Ed West left the little country town of Osawatomie, Kas., in 1961, to teach here at Lincoln High school. Although somewhat quiet and shy, he had been an All-Star running back at Pittsburg State and had even been invited to try out for an NFL team. After teaching for a few years, Ed accepted a management position at the now-defunct Western Electric Plant in 1966. Trained in Navy electronics, he was a perfect fit for all the intricacies of this rapidly budding industry. Even today, those unique skills have made him very popular, especially among the youngsters. Now in semi-retirement and having returned to teaching as a substitute, he is frequently called on to either build a computer or help someone unravel the complexities of owning or using a personal computer. His actual "hands-on" football experiences, coupled with his remarkable, computer wizardry, gives Ed an exalted, special place among his fellow Monday Niters. When Ed West speaks, everybody listens. He is a walking embodiment of what he does and feels and his peers both respect and admire him. In addition, his posh, suburban home is immersed in and full of DVD's, High Definition tv's, and a host of other computer-generated gadgets. When asked how many games the Chiefs would win, Ed quickly shouts out "at least 12.". In fact, he thinks the Chiefs may even win more, even though it is too early to talk Super Bowl talk. This guy may be from the country, but he sure is smart when it comes to football and computers and the Chiefs.

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.