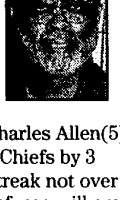
Monday Nite Footballers Predictions

By Jim "Grand Dad" Nunnelly
Predicting Since 1970

Green Bay Packers vs. Kansas City Chiefs

12 p.m. KCTV 5

Game Prediction (Wins In Parenthesis)



Charles Allen(5)
Chiefs by 3
Streak not over defense will prevail

Paul Booker (5)
Packers by 10
Home Field Advantage

Carl Clark (5)
Chiefs by 3
I'm staying on this mule

Bubba Cleaver (5)
Chiefs by 3
Getting ready for January

Ike Gardner (3)
Packers by 7
Dante's inferno can't burn all season

Lloyd Greenfield (5)
Chiefs by 6
I'm still riding the Chiefs' waves

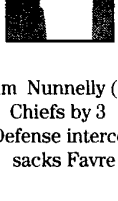
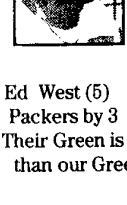
Ollie Hubbard (5)
Chiefs by 6
Kicking gluteus
maximus, again



Jim Nunnelly (5)
Chiefs by 3
Defense intercepts,
sacks Favre



Ed West (5)
Packers by 3
Their Green is better than our Green

Sports Editor's Note: Now that we know that Ike has fallen behind in the race for the Monday Niters championship, maybe we need to let Ike know how foolish it is to constantly go against our Chiefs. Of course, ol' Ike will be ol' Ike and that's okay. There aren't too many of us that want him to win anyway. And THE CALL is included! Well Ike, now that you're two games behind, how does it feel? I'm sure, rotten. Gut-wrenching sickness. Light-headed. Oh, do you get to sit in your "kingly chair" now that you've lost your battle? Yea, right. The King has been dethroned! All power to the victors! See Ike if you had listened to me and the rest of the Monday Niters you wouldn't be in this mess. But no, you allowed your ego to get in the way and now look, you're foolishly sitting in last place. Oh, I thought you said the Chiefs wouldn't be this good. Not on your life, Ike. You're wrong, the rest of us are right and we're all gloating over your last-place standing. See Ike, if only you had listened. . .

Chatter, Conversation And Commentary

Lloyd Greenfield. . . quiet, unassuming, quite a thinker. Graduated from Lincoln High school, right after being transferred from the now-defunct R.T. Coles. Spent 33 years as a Kansas City, Mo., firefighter. Acted in 20 plays, dating back to high school drama club. Owns a collection of about 60 model cars, reflecting his whole lifetime. Now, a fully-licensed real estate broker. Avid Chiefs' fan, but has voted against the Chiefs, not more than a half dozen times. And it is in being a Chiefs' fan that vaulted him into the pathway of the Monday Nite Footballers. Lloyd was a natural but opposite fit for the vociferous and highly-opinionated Football club. Lloyd joined the group shortly after he traveled all the way to Canton, Ohio, to see the late great Buck Buchanan inducted into the National Football League's Hall of Fame. Even though a different personality, Lloyd holds his own at group meetings. But, most of all, Lloyd may be the most fair-minded individual I have ever met. . . always thinking of others. In fact, he was his idea that we dedicated last week's column to our late friend, Uncle Walt Livingston. One can immediately see why he is one of the most sought-after realtors in the community. That because he is always. . . quiet, unassuming and quite a thinker.

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.