Chatter, Conversation And Commentary

1. Marvelous Marcus! During the Chiefs last game against the Seattle Seahawks, running back Marcus Allen scored his 108th and 109th rushing touchdowns. Allen, currently ranked second behind Walter Payton, needs only one more rushing touchdown to tie the Chicago Bear great. Keep running Marcus, Kansas City fans are behind you all the way to the top!
2. Kansas City owns a 42-30 advantage in the series with the Broncos. This includes winning three straight games. The Chiefs have been victorious six of the last eight meetings. Fourteen of the last 18 games have been decided by eight points or less and four of the last six games have been decided by exactly three points.
3. Last season the Chiefs led the NFL in scoring defense (15.1 points per game) and fewest offensive touchdowns allowed (23). This season Kansas City has the NFL's seventh-best scoring defense (15.4) and has allowed the second-fewest offensive touchdowns (eight). The Broncos lead the league in third-down conversion percentage (52.4 percent).
4. The Kansas City Chiefs have qualified for the playoffs six straight seasons, the longest current streak in the league.
5. On John Elway: When Elway passed for 326 years against the Baltimore Ravens last Sunday for a Bronco 45-34 victory, he surpassed Warren Moon and moved into third place all-time in passing yards behind Fran Tarkenton and Dan Marino. He has faced the Kansas City Chiefs 25 times in his career, all in the regular season, and holds a 14-11 record against them, including a 10-3 mark at Mile High stadium.
6. About 648 children are in foster homes at any one time in Jackson County. Children who experienced interruptive parenting are much more likely to use drugs later in life. A student at Park college is working on a paper tracing this subject.
7. About Terrell and Shannon: Terrell Davis' 194-yard rushing performance against the Baltimore Ravens not only set a personal high for him, it also broke the 22-year-old team record of 183 yards in a game set by Otis Armstrong. That performance also marked the eighth time in Davis' 21-game career that he has rushed for over 100 yards. Shannon Sharpe is among the leaders in receptions by a tight end in the 1990's, and in receptions by all offensive players since 1993. He also is among the leaders in receptions and yards in 1996. This year, Shannon Sharpe has had 48 receptions, 630 yards with five touchdown catches.
