Monday Nite Footballers

Commentary

By Jim Nunnelly

Sports In Review For 1987

CHARLES ALLEN, D.D.S.
(Likes Bo Jackson)

PAUL BOOKER
(Payton's The Man)

TOM BROWN
(Messed Up Year)

CARL CLARK
(Another Bo Fan)

ISAAC GARDNER
(The Dismal Chiefs)

OLLIE HUBBARD
(Mike Tyson's Victory)

WALT LIVINGSTON
(Likes Bo Too)

JIM NUNNELLY
(Heisman Trophy Winner)

JERRY PRICE
(Proposition 48)

ED WEST
(Sugar Ray's Comeback)

MONDAY NITER	MOST SIGNIFICANT SPORTS EVENT IN '87	PICKS FOR SUPER BOWL
Charles Allen, D.D.S.	Bo Jackson and his ability to play two professional sports.	Cleveland vs. San Francisco
Paul Booker	Payton's retirement from Chicago after 12 years. NFL's all time leading rusher.	Denver vs. Chicago
Tom Brown	It was a mess up year all around. For example, Al Campanis and the NFL strike.	Denver vs. Chicago
Carl Clark	Bo Jackson's playing both baseball and football.	Denver vs. Chicago
Issac Gardner	The Chief's dismal record after being predicted to be in the playoffs.	Cleveland vs. San Francisco
Ollie Hubbard	Tyson's defeat over Biggs.	Cleveland vs. San Francisco
Walt Livingston	Bo Jackson's playing two sports.	Cleveland vs. New Orleans
Jim Nunnelly	Tim Brown's back to back touchdown punt returns against Michigan State, icing the Heisman Trophy for the Notre Dame specialist.	Denver vs. San Francisco
Jerry Price	The implementation of proposition 48, requiring athletes to pass entrance test for incoming college freshmen.	Cleveland vs. San Francisco
Ed West	Sugar Ray's comeback and defeat.	Denver vs. San Francisco

EDITOR'S NOTE: The CALL Sports department will like to add in as the most significant sports event in 1987—the final season of Julius Irving as a player in the National Basketball Association. The department Super Bowl picks are, a long shot, Houston vs. New Orleans.

Comeback Monday Niter of the Year: Jerry Price

Most Improved Monday Niter: Isaac Gardner

Monday Niter Quote of the Year: "Frank Gansz has won every post game interview." —Ed West

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.